

The Fed is beyond if and when, all that remains is how much and how long

The Fed has already raised rates twice this tightening cycle.

Ok, they are microscopic, and this was only a test—had this been a genuine rate hike the FOMC would have announced it.

But successful tests of the Maglev system have taken place and they are ready to get serious once the countdown reaches zero.

Peter Stella

Stellar Consulting

26 October 2015